WOODMINES

Introducing our custom-made log stores, crafted with the finest high-grade materials to offer you both functionality and style. When it comes to storing firewood, the quality of the materials used in construction can make all the difference, not just in appearance, but in performance and longevity.

Unlike cheaper alternatives, that often rely on lower-quality woods, our log stores are built from premium materials designed to withstand the toughest elements.

Our high-grade wood is treated for maximum durability, ensuring that your log store remains a sturdy and weather-resistant solution for years to come!

You can view our Log stores at Unit 2b,

Bernie

WOODMINES

Large overhang-keeps logs dry

Pressure Treated

WOODMINES

This extremely posh wood store has all the features required to ensure your firewood stays dry and continues to dry out. The best pressure treated timber is used to create Bernie in our Wigan based workshop. You are very welcome to call in and take a look.

A choice of roof coverings are available; cedar shakes, cedar shingles, felt shingles etc.

As with all of our structures, bespoke sizes are not a problem. We can add storage sections with doors if required, shelves for kindling etc.

Supreme Log Store
